The Ophthalmologist Celebrates “Ten Years of Excellence and Impact in Ophthalmology” with its 10th Power List!

New York, US, April 11, 2023 – The Ophthalmologist has today announced its 2023 Power List – an annual celebration of the most influential people in ophthalmology. The 10th iteration of this prestigious list coincides with The Ophthalmologist’s 10th anniversary and will feature in its 100th issue, as well as being available online.

The theme of this milestone Power List is “Ten Years of Excellence and Impact in Ophthalmology,” focusing on pioneers, scientists and opinion leaders who have truly made a difference over the past decade.

The process? First, readers of The Ophthalmologist were invited to nominate those deserving of inclusion on this prestigious list. Second, an independent panel of expert judges reviewed all nominees, before selecting the individuals worthy of a place on the final list.

Neil Hanley, Publishing Director of The Ophthalmologist, says, “Over the last decade, the eye care community has embraced The Ophthalmologist Power List and turned it into the annual celebration of impact and excellence in ophthalmology that it is today.

The Power List is the culmination of many months of hard work as we strive to deliver a list that is representative – but we emphasize that it is not intended to be definitive; we know there are many ophthalmologists working hard to deliver excellent eye care in the communities that they serve. The Power List is here to celebrate the whole of ophthalmology by showcasing 100 individuals whose work continues to shape the care delivered across the globe.”

Jon Greenaway, Editor of The Ophthalmologist, says, “The Ophthalmologist’s Power List has been published annually for the last 10 years, becoming a landmark occasion for the entire eyecare world and a highlight on our editorial calendar. It’s an incredible privilege to be involved with the Power List – especially as The Ophthalmologist celebrates its landmark of 100 issues. The Power List is only going to become bigger and better – especially as this year we’ll introduce the Hall of Fame and Rising Stars initiatives – continuing our job of championing the very best of ophthalmology from all over the world”.

The Power List will also feature in the 100th issue of The Ophthalmologist, available to download as a PDF in our March/April issue here in the next few days.
